- Scheduled Reports

Price Increase for 2023

We enjoyed seeing so many of you at NRPA. We received a lot of compliments on the many updates and enhancements we've released this year. Since NRPA, we've released another, Scheduled Reports. This new feature allows you to have your favorite reports delivered to your inbox automatically on a schedule you define.

In the works is a new email option. Email is complicated these days and many IT departments have restricted email usage and in some cases forbid emails to be sent from 3rd party applications such as Sportsman. We are working on integrating 3rd party solutions in which will allow you to email seamlessly from Sportsman. Stay tuned.

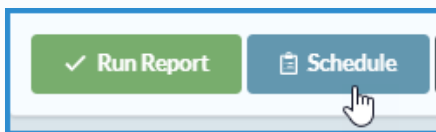

Headed into 2023 we are implementing a price increase. Inflationary pressures not seen since the 80's have affected us all and we are required to implement a significant cost of living increase to keep our staff within a livable wage. Our largest asset is our professional staff dedicated to your success.

Wishing everyone successful fall programs headed into the busy but wonderful holiday season.

- Charlie Warrell, Director of Development & CEO

Price Increase for 2023

All across the US, people are feeling the effects of some of the worst inflation the country has seen since the early 80's, and it's no different here in Utah. In a software company, the cost that dwarfs all others is labor, which is also our biggest asset. In 2023, we will be issuing an 8% price increase across the board so we can implement a cost of living adjustment for our employees. This cost increase will be profit neutral for Peak Software Systems, and simply represents the cost of obtaining and keeping good employees so that we can continue to hold to our proven standard of service and continue to provide you with high quality software solutions.
